Will do. I'll talk with him today. He can start going through the forestry submittal & the comments. Plus, I'll try to get him on the conf. call this afternoon.

If you think it makes sense, please give thought to how Chris might help with the OR workload.

Lynda & Chris,

FYI. EPA & NOAA will need to wade through Nina's 83 page comment letter (attached) and 2 DVDs worth of attachments—in addition to all the other comments and Oregon's new submittal. The Oregon CZARA comment period closed yesterday.

All--

See attached for Nina's lengthy (70+ pg) comment letter. She also sent in 2 DVDs of attachments with ~1.5GB (yes GB!) of additional info that we are to add to the public record online (some are things like the settlement agreement and various emails and docs she's gotten from us through FOIA but a lot looks to be various other reports, letters, etc).

As to be expected we've also received a deluge of other comments from the public the past 2 days. As of yesterday, at 4pm ET, we had received 51 comments but my inbox is loaded up again this morning (haven't done an official count yet) and we may get additional snail mail letters that trickle in over the next couple of days (snail mail can be slow for us so as long as its post-marked by the 20th, I think we need to accept it). We're going through them now and hope to have all online by middle of next week for everyone to review. Needless to say, we'll have a lot of wade through, digest and figure out how to respond to in an effective and efficient manner.

Allison
